ABOUT ME

Innovative web developer with 5 years of experience in the front-end and 3 years in the backend with PHP language. General knowledge in technologies such as: HTML, CSS, JAVASCRIPT, PHP, Object Oriented PHP, Laravel, JAVA, Basic Python, Bootstrap, SQL, MySQL. Talented in project management, team leadership and independent problem solving. To see my work click on the link: amici.epizy.com Amici is a platform that enables users (mostly students) to access books and lectures making it easier for them to attend computer science classes. Literature in Amici account is divided based on the academic year in which the student is. Students can also exchange files (seminar papers, projects, photographs, etc.) of various kinds. Another option is to post the videos via the link, where the student first creates a folder by naming it (eg: "Lessons from Java") and then adds the videos to the folder by naming them first and placing the link . Among other things, students can communicate with each other through messages (chat), where they can discuss various topics or post a picture.
